

About Living Planet :

"...Magpie's finest work to date...filled with a spirit of transcendence that permeates even the most anguished prophetic cries."

- Paul Seaman, Sojourners

"...The arrangements and vocal performances are absolute perfection, if there is such a thing."

- Evan Pritchard, Resonance Magazine

"...among the finest contemporary folk albums you'll find anywhere...The harmonies are exquisite... I love this music, It is the kind that has always touched me deeply. For anyone out there who feels that meaningful songs aren't what they used to be, check this out."

- Daniel Rose-Redwood, Pathways

"This month's best release comes from Magpie, whose Living Planet (*****) raises ecological consciousness and puts its money where its mouth is: all royalty proceeds go to environmental action groups...Greg Artzner's guitar matures with every release and Terry Leonino is one of the strongest harmony singers around. Together, they are one of folk music's treasures."

- Rob Weir, The Valley Advocate
